AAA's newest Alumni!

AAA WELCOMES 300 STUDENTS AND NEW STAFF

Auburn Adventist Academy has welcomed 300 students along with six new faculty and staff for the 2007-2008 school year. The new staff on campus is a combination of new faces and those a bit more familiar.

Francisco Brito joins us from Fife, Wash. Originally from the Dominican Republic where he once worked as a technical teacher, he will be teaching Spanish at AAA. Brito has a Bachelor of Arts in Religion and a minor in Spanish. Brito has always loved working with teenagers. "It has been my passion. I hope not only to be a teacher, but also a pastor, mentor, and friend to the students."

Also new to AAA is Debbie Trautwein. Debbie holds a master's in special education and will be heading up a new department as the Learning Resource Coordinator. "I hope to be able to help those who are struggling to learn, and teach them skills to become better students." Trautwein enjoys both water and snow skiing, sports, and spending time with her family.

Garlyn Wacker comes to AAA from La Sierra University in Riverside, Calif. and brings her teaching experience to the English department. Wacker received her master's in English and Literature.

Returning to AAA is Troy Carle who served last year as the taskforce boy's dean. Carle, who has a Bachelor of Arts in English from Pacific Union College, is eager to begin his new role as the ESL director. "I am very excited to be working with the ESL students. I am planning on putting a lot of work into the department and strengthening it by offering a more diverse curriculum."

The boys' and girls' dorms are also seeing some familiar faces. Harmony Smith, an AAA graduate, is returning to serve as the taskforce girls' dean. Smith is taking a year off from her studies in social work at Union College to give a year of service to the academy. "I chose to return to AAA because I loved going to school at Auburn. The faculty really helped me while I was there and it felt like a big family. I hope that I can help the girls the way the staff helped me."

Daniel Rogers, also an alumnus of Auburn, is energized to be working as the taskforce boys' dean. Rogers just completed his sophomore year at Union College where he is majoring in International Rescue and Relief. Rogers shares what kind of impact he hopes to make at AAA, "I am excited and enthusiastic to work with the kids and I want to do whatever possible to help the students succeed."

Even though the newness of the school year has worn off and the students and faculty have become fully enwrapped with the busy schedule of academy life, Auburn Adventist Academy is excited about quality and experience of their new staff members as they look forward to continuing AAA's tradition of excellence in Christian education.

Disney Comes to AAA

It truly was a happily-ever-after ending at the ASB Disney Costume Party. It was a cold, chilly night at a barn in Puyallup. Disney characters near and far gathered for the ASB event that everyone was looking forward to. Jousting on bikes, bobbing for apples, a "scene it" game showing Disney mobiles, and a candy guessing game were a few of the activities that the students enjoyed. The highlight of the evening was the costume contest, where everyone who wanted the opportunity had a chance to win a prize for "best costume". The best male costume went to Scotty Tupper, who was dressed as a big baby. Rebecca Schulz took home the bragging rights of best female as Cruella De Vil. The best couple, which came as no shocker, was Pastor Weir (as Douglas Barahona) and Douglas Barahona (as Pastor Weir). Karissa Rogers, who could be confused as Snow White, won the best Disney Character. The Wizard of Oz characters made an appearance and took home the best group. The night was fun and eventful, and everyone had a fantastic time.

in a Falcon victory. The next two games against Milo Adventist Academy were a small upset for the Falcons, losing both games. Kurtis Hallam, co-captain of the Falcons, said, "We should have built up a little more stamina before coming to the tournament. We also could have communicated better and passed the ball around more." Game four against Chinook Winds was a great team success with a 5-2 victory. For the final game the Falcons were alive to keep it going with a 3-0 win against Livingston Academy. "In the last two games we came together as a team and pumped each other up before the game," Hallam said.

Bump, Set, Spike, Dive, Go, Fight, Win!

The Lady Falcon Varsity and JV volleyball teams have wrapped up their season finishing 7-14 and 4-6 respectively. The highlight of the season was the Walla Walla University Fall Classic where AAA competed with nineteen other volleyball teams. The Lady Falcons started out strong winning three of their first four games. The next day was tough, with playing Loma Linda Academy (reigning Fall Classic champions) twice in one day. Through it all, the ladies played with grit and determination to place 12th overall. With a young team and a lot of returning players, the Lady Falcons look forward to showcasing their growing talent in the next 2008 season.

Climb On?

For the last couple of years, Mr. Hyde and the class of Industrial Arts Survey has been working on what will someday be AAA's very own climbing wall. The first idea began in 2000 when then TF dean Bryant Higgins decided that Auburn needed a climbing wall.

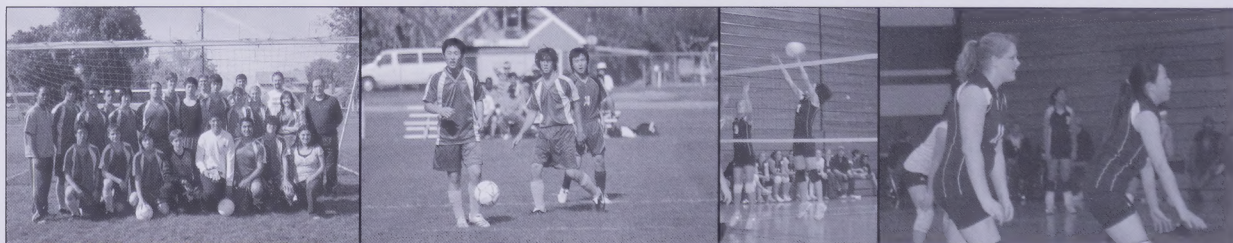

The project went cold until the class of 2006 brought up the idea again. For their class gift they gave AAA enough money to complete the wall. Mr. Hyde ordered the lumber and the work began.

The wait will be well worth it. When finished, the wall will have four climbing routes and will vary in difficulty. "I tried to build something for everyone," Hyde stated.

Direct Connection contributors—Isaac Tyman, Alex Paulsen, and Chase Liveley.

Kick It Up a Notch!

The close cut grass and the bright blue sky made for a perfect game day on the Walla Walla University field. Sixteen teams came from all over the U.S. to compete in the annual Fall Classic. Our own Auburn Falcons ran onto the field in their blue and yellow jerseys to take on Thunderbird Academy which ended

BEHIND THE MUSIC

BY MICHELLE REYES '08

Let's get it straight; Sylvan is not just a learning center. Though it's also a group focused on helping you learn, Sylvan Chorale is dedicated to one thing: singing music. Sylvan has been around as early as the 1920s and first began as a quartet. But by 1953, it had grown into a larger group called the Sylvan Choir. The word Sylvan, actually meaning "of the wood," was chosen for the group because of the major wooded areas surrounding Auburn Adventist Academy at the time.

But let's get back to the present. Sylvan Chorale is an elite choir that spends its time ministering through music to different places like churches, schools, nurses, and even the state Capital. Directed by Mr. Neumann, Sylvan has spent the last three years touring through Canada, Alaska, and most recently Northern California for Long Tour in the spring.

Though this year's destination for Long Tour remains a mystery, the group is excited for another trip and a chance to bond with each other while sharing

But it's more than just the touring that makes Sylvan what it is. Mr. Neumann, who has been directing Sylvan for the past 17 years, is excited to work with this year's Sylvanites and describes what Sylvan is in a few simple words; "We're family. Yes we're learning music, but it's far deeper. I really do believe it is a form of ministry – not just for the audience, but for us as students."

LIFE AS A SENIOR

BY ASHLIE HEILBRUN '08

I cannot believe four years have already passed by and I am finally a senior! It seems like just yesterday I was taking my first steps into Auburn Adventist Academy as a freshman. My time here at AAA has been such a wonderful experience. So many fun memories have happened throughout these years. With the help of my teachers, pastors and my parents I have grown very much; responsibly, intellectually, and spiritually.

Three years have flown by and now being a senior there is so much going on and I am getting very excited about graduation, which is approaching very rapidly. So far this year there have been two trips, the four-year senior trip and the Fort Flagler trip with all of the senior class.

The four-year senior trip was the first trip we went on. We went to Banks Lake, in Eastern Washington for a weekend. We spent our time relaxing on the beach, tubing, and wake boarding on the lake. It was a time of bonding and reflection and an opportunity to get to know each other even better. It was a great start to our last year at Auburn.

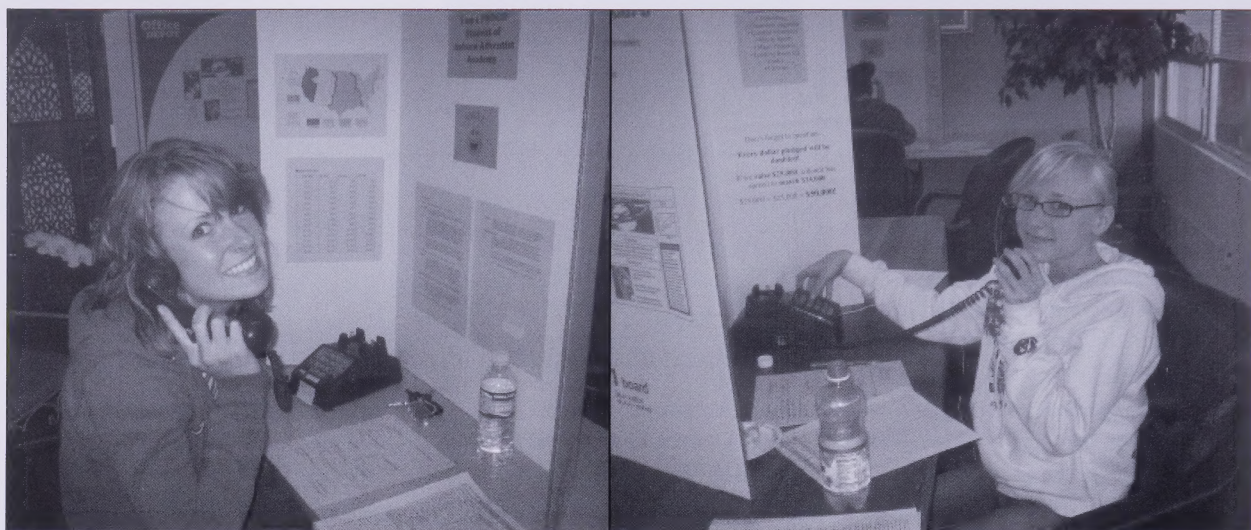

Our second trip was to Fort Flagler.

This trip was really enjoyable and again a great opportunity to soak in the reality that in a blink of an eye we will be graduating and stepping into the realm of being alumni. We had a great trip filled with fun activities. Class elections were also held on Saturday night.

These two trips have really brought our class together. We are all so close and we get along so well. It is going to be very difficult to say goodbye to everyone at the end of the year. But I know that we will not have to say goodbye forever, because if we do not see each other again on earth, I know we will see each other again in Heaven.

PHONATHON 2007

BY KARISSA ROGERS '08

It was a frenzy of phone calls and fun times during Auburn Adventist Academy's Phonathon held September 23-27, 2007. Twenty-five students crowded into the Development building to gather donations from past donors and school alumni. Proceeds would fund functions such as campus ministries, varsity sports, the music department, and other important school programs. Every night for a week these students worked toward a goal of $25,000 worth of pledges. Upon meeting this goal, a generous supporter matched the funds collected. "Because of our matching donor we were able to raise $50,000 in a matter of days," said Erin Hieb, who is the Alumni and Development Director at AAA. "It was fun to see the students get really excited to make those calls," continues Hieb.

Phonathon was once an annual occurrence until 2000, and was then replaced with a mass mailing. Hieb teamed up with Gordon Onsager, AAA's major gifts officer, to revive the phonathon tradition. The school was given two times the amount of money they would have received through mailing. "People are more likely to respond to a voice rather than a piece of paper," commented Hieb.

God has sent the stewards of his money to bless our institution with $50,000, and our campus is still buzzing with prayers of thanks!

WELCOMING COMMUNICATION

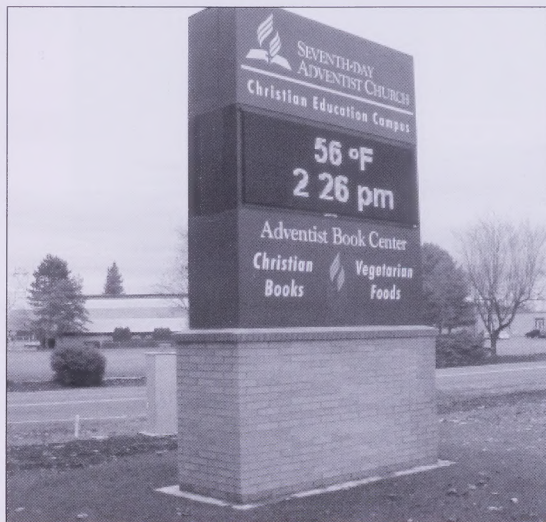

BY KELSEY GRATIAS '11

Communication and presentation are important to the Auburn Adventist Academy community. Last year through generous donations from the Versacare Foundation and the class of 1956, we raised over $32,000 towards our communication goals. In addition we received financial support from the Washington Conference, Auburn Adventist Academy, the Adventist Book Center, Buena Vista Elementary, and Loving to Learn Daycare. With those funds Auburn Adventist Academy was able to build an 18 foot high message center at its front entrance.

The sign, a colored reader board capable of wording and pictures, is an exciting, innovative, progression to the campus. Deirdre Epperson, secretary of the Auburn Adventist Academy Church says, "This reader board has allowed us to keep the community informed and has encouraged people to attend many of the school and church functions." It has also provided a way to reach out to the community by displaying bible texts, words of inspiration, and most importantly invitations to worship and to attend special events on campus. "We look forward to using the sign as a way to reach out to the community and to press a spiritual emphasis on the passersby." says Epperson.

The reader board has proven itself to be a great investment and Auburn Adventist Academy is very excited to have the new addition on campus.

1ST ANNUAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

BY KELSEY GRATIAS '11

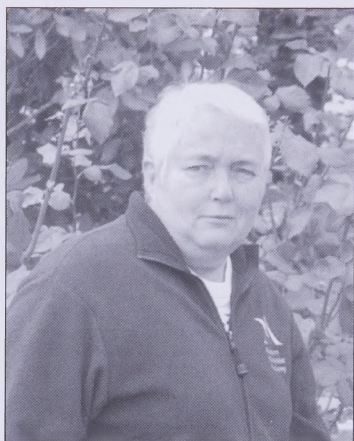

This year Auburn Adventist Academy held its 1st Annual Golf Tournament. Hosted by the Auburn City Golf Course and supported by 35 sponsors, there was a turn out of 68 golfers. Keith Hallam, principal of AAA, says, "The event was well attended, on a good course, and had great prizes. It was very encouraging to see the community involved and having such a great time."

After the 18-hole tournament was completed, participants were awarded a variety of prizes and served a hot meal. The tournament winners were Dean Paulsen, Ernie Hooker, John Hooker, Henk Mensink, and Ernie Tobey. Through this event Auburn Adventist Academy generated over $6,700 to put towards the Annual Fund. "The tournament was a great opportunity to get the community involved, everyone had a great time and I'm looking forward to next year," says Gordon On-

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS OF THE YEAR 2007

Ila M. (Russell) Zbaraschuk has been very involved with Adventist education ever since she was a student at AAA. While attending, she held many class offices as well as ASB. She used her writing skills as the assistant editor for the school newspaper and was a speaker for Student Week of Prayer. Since her return to the Northwest some 20 years ago, Ila has continued her mission of Adventist education by serving on several committees and boards such as the NPUC Board, chair of the Nelson-Crane School Board, Social Committee and Sabbath School Superintendent. She is also a member of the Committee of 100, a giving society dedicated to the continued support and growth of AAA by financially committing to specific projects each year.

After graduating from AAA in 1960, Ila continued her education at Walla Walla College where she earned a B.A. in English. She then went on to the University of Missouri where she graduated in 1969 with an M.A. in Journalism.

Ila met and fell in love with her husband, Ivan, while attending Walla Walla College. "I asked him out first," says Ila, "but he later told me I had already been in his conversations among his friends for a month." They later married on August 26, 1965 in Puyallup, Wash. Ila and Ivan have two children, Tony and Michael, and two grandchildren, Anna, 4 and Elizabeth, 1. Tony is the reference librarian at La Sierra University; Michael is a religion professor at Pacific Lutheran University and his wife, Lisa, a child psychiatrist.

Before returning to teach at AAA in 1987, Ila was employed at Pacific Union College, Loma Linda University, and La Sierra University. She also spent some time as a teacher and reporter in England. She finally landed back at Auburn Adventist Academy where she is the English and Journalism Department Chair. While teaching at Auburn, she has been a member of the AAA Operating Board as well as the Curriculum Committee chairperson. Ila's commitment to Christian education has won her several awards including AAA Teacher of the Year, and the Washington Conference Honored Teacher award. After an amazing 20 years of educational and philanthropic service to AAA, Ila retired from teaching this last spring.

It is with honor that the 2007 Distinguished Alumnus Award is presented to you, Ila Zbaraschuk. You, like those who have been honored before you, leave a legacy—that a life dedicated to Jesus is a life of service to others. Thank you for being that kind of example.

Nominate an Alumnus for Alumni Weekend 2008

Here's your chance to nominate that special Auburn Adventist Academy graduate who has made a mark in the world. The AAA Alumni Association seeks nominations for the Distinguished Alumnus Award. These individuals should be accomplished in their area of expertise or professional arena and have made a positive contribution to society and to God as a result of their work or life pursuits.

Please send your nominations along with nominee qualifications to:

Auburn Adventist Academy exists to nurture students in the ways of Christ by opening avenues of knowledge, skill, values and service. Through competent, compassionate teaching we endeavor to guide students that they may become

*of Christ convicted,
to Christ committed,
for Christ compelled.*
